Pizza pizza

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

The third-quarter activity report of the Romulus Police Department indicates that officers in the department are busier than ever and that crime in the city has decreased.

Significant decreases were recorded in the areas of rape, down 29 percent, burglary, down 23 percent, arson, down 32 percent and auto thefts, down 7 percent. Over all, criminal activity reported has decreased by 7 percent.

"Our guys are doing a good job. They're driving more miles and their presence in the community is being felt more. Our crime prevention efforts are paying off," said Police Chief Charles Wilmeth.

Criminal arrests are up 25 percent over the same period last year.

According to Wilmeth, "Word travels fast among criminals. The heat is on in Romulus. Burglaries are down. This is a direct relationship to our stepped-up neighborhood watch efforts. This isn't just Chief Wilmeth's theory but neighborhood watch has been proven across the country."

Travel citations have increased by 60 percent to 5,729 citations. Patrol milage increased by 23 percent with 342,082 miles driven by Romulus police.

"This means you're seeing a lot more red and blue out there. If we can create an omnipresence, people know we're around. We have more people asking for help. Requests are up 8 percent, and last year, they were up 24 percent from the year before," he said.

Romulus residents witnessed three murders to date, one more than last year at this time. Larcenies recorded the only other increase in Part I crimes with 953 incidents reported, 47 more than last year.

"We saw an increase in self-initiated crimes. Part II crimes, specifically in the areas of drunk driving and narcotics. Three hundred sixty-three people have so far been arrested for drunk driving," said Wilmeth.

"All in all, our accident rate is not bad compared with the amount of traffic generated by the airport. Over one million people come in and out of this city each month. That means a lot of traffic. The number of accidents is identical with last year at 1,132," he said, adding that injury accidents increased 30 percent with 300 accidents.

"The city of Romulus has a criminal and traffic problem which can be identified and solved together. The more police officers are on the road, the more impact we have. That's definite," Wilmeth said.

Local gas stations victimized

The Total Gas Station at Wayne and Ecorse roads reported two separate robberies during the weekend, and police suspect the same man may have committed both crimes.

"Two employees at the same station but on different shifts were robbed at gunpoint. Their descriptions fit the same individual," said Lt. Ken Kraus of the Romulus Police Department.

The suspect was described as a 6-foot man, weighing about 150 pounds with a bump on his nose. One attendant added that the man had blond hair and blue eyes while the other victim told police the man was clean-shaven.

The first robbery occurred about 9 p.m. Sunday when police responded to a call from the station as the suspect fled the scene.

Ten hours later, at 7 a.m., a man of similar description robbed the station again at gunpoint. Both victims reported that the license plate of the vehicle used was covered with a rag. Sunday, the vehicle was said to have been light blue or silver and on Monday, it was described as maroon. Both times, the suspect drove eastbound on Ecorse Road.

Kraus described both incidents as "very unusual." Police are still investigating at this time. No shots were fired and no one was injured.

The manager of the four Total Gas Stations in Romulus who asked to remain nameless, said "We are 99 percent sure this is the same guy."

He said no station in Romulus is immune from these random and frequent armed robberies. "They happen in streaks. All the stations get hit," he said.

Barden cable sale nears final stages

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Conditions and stipulations of the proposed sale of the Barden Cable franchise in Romulus prompted extensive discussion at the regular meeting of the members of the Romulus City Council Monday evening.

Council members closely examined and discussed the proposed ordinance amendment which would allow the sale and transfer of the Barden franchise in the city to a holding company based in Plymouth.

The proposed new owner, N-Com, also owns the Omnicom Cable Company in Canton, Plymouth and in several surrounding communities. Harry Suri, president and principal owner of N-Com and Fred Collman, vice-president and general manager of N-Com, attended the meeting along with Don Barden, present owner of the cable service.

The original amendment, according to Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks, was approved by city council members in 1982. Five years later, Barden announced that 95 percent of Romulus was wired for cable.

Barden first proposed the sale and transfer before members of city council last week and asked members to approve the introduction of the ordinance amendment. That amendment would allow the transaction to be complete 90 days from final approval by council.

Barden met with members of the Romulus Cable Commission at dinner last Tuesday at the Romulus Hilton. Ray Williams, commission chairman, told council members Monday, he and members of the commission agreed with the terms of the cable sale and transfer.

"We recommend the transfer of ownership of Barden Cable Company with one reservation," said Williams. He questioned pending litigation involving Romulus and the Barden Company.

City Attorney Barry Seifman explained that litigation against the company could go on for years and would have no direct affect on the present agreement.

"The proposed amendment to the ordinance agreement is the result of the 1984 Cable Act. I feel the ordinance should stand as is and adopted as is," he said.

Barden explained, "The idea of the Cable Act of 1984 was to give cities and cable companies level ground to work from. When the original ordinance was developed, cable was a new field. This cleans up the ordinance and makes it all standard."

Members on the council questioned Barden about specific promises made when cable was first proposed in Romulus. Barden stressed that service to local customers would not be interrupted with the sale. And the existing cable office on Huron River Drive in Romulus will remain. Barden also stated a $10,000 scholarship fund promised previously would become reality with the closing of the sale.

"Barden is asking for the final adoption tonight," said Councilman Barry Baumann. "That doesn't give us much time."

Councilman Pete Bergeron asked the new owners, "Which changes will financially affect you the most?"

According to Suri, these changes include the availability of the cable studio in Canton as opposed to one specific to Romulus, the reduction of a $100,000 bond to $10,000 and the elimination of an agreement to supply standby power.

The Omnicom studio in Canton is already accessible to six communities, said Collman. The bond money was originally intended as "good faith money," Barden said. He added that standby power is nothing more than a battery, a very short-term and temporary solution."

Council members reworded the amendment to retain a $100,000 bond with regard to new cable construction and established a $10,000 bond after the system is complete.

As far as litigation is concerned, Collman said, "We would take an earnest effort to look at everything on a case-by-case basis."

Council members postponed any decision until Oct. 26 when they will vote on final approval of the sale and transfer.

A no good samaritan

Phony priest fakes out local official

Romulus Councilman William Wadsworth is still shaking his head about the warrant issued for the arrest of "Father Irish," a priest he met in the aftermath of the crash of Northwest Flight 255 Aug. 16.

Wadsworth, a sergeant with the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, met the alleged priest during the clean up efforts at the airport. He, and several other members of the airport and county staff, assisted Irish in meeting with victim's families and helped him gain access to the airport. This week, Wayne County authorities issued an arrest warrant for Irish, 46, of Deerfield Beach, Fla., charging him with fraud over $1,000. The maximum penalty is 10 years in prison, according to Nancy Mouradian, a public relations official with Wayne County.

For at least a week following the crash, Irish allegedly posed as a Catholic priest and ministered to many victims and their families, according to Mouradian.

"Irish illegally obtained money, lodging, meals and phone calls at the expense of Northwest Airlines. He had assured us he was a Roman Catholic priest associating with the Church of Good Shepherd in Denver," she explained.

"I swallowed it hook, line and sinker. I even held the holy water while he blessed bodies. He fooled me," said Wadsworth.

Wadsworth's job during the crash cleanup was to supervise the makeshift morgue on Middlebelt Road. "When I first met him, we were having a problem releasing a body improperly identified. He told me he was changing planes enroute to Detroit but after he called his monsignor, he was told to stay and help. He was wearing Northwest identification tags.

"He asked if he could help. So we drove him back and forth. He talked and comforted families. I had no reason to doubt him. His actions as a priest fooled everyone. He even stopped a hearse and asked that we now bow our heads in silent prayer. I never heard him solicit the services of a Florida lawyer," he said.

Irish vacated the scene after several days at the crash site. Attempts to locate Irish have not been successful, but that should change with the issuance of the warrant, she added. The complaint was signed by Michael Bradley, representative for Northwest Airlines. The investigation will continue, Mouradian said.

The first dig

Air Conditioning Products Company on Ecorse Road in Romulus will double the size of their existing facility with a new 33,600-square-foot addition. The company, a manufacturer of ceiling shutter systems, relocated in Romulus last year. Preparing to dig the first shovel are from left, Tom Bedford, plant superintendent, Tom Lennon, plant manager, Roy Bullock, sales manager, Phillip Mebus, president, Ian Schonsheck, builder, Mayor Beverly McAnalley, David Paul, Romulus Building Director, and Dennis Oakes, community and Economic Director. 'The quality of my life improved.'

Insurance agent Mike Ososkie, once a two-pack-a-day smoker, has been a nonsmoker for five months now. He gave up cigarettes for good with the help of Wyandotte General Hospital's Smoking Management Clinic.

"I tried to quit a number of times and after trying so often you start to get down on yourself," said Mike. "This program gave me a whole new outlook on quitting. I felt better almost immediately."

"I didn't quit to add 10 years to my life or to avoid a heart attack or cancer. I quit because I wanted the quality of my life improved right now," he said.

- The Smoking Management Clinic is the most successful program in the nation.
- Participants receive the longest, most comprehensive follow-up support.
- All Smoking Management Clinic instructors are former smokers who receive intensive training.
- The program includes a trial period with a money-back guarantee.

Open house hosted

Staff, board members and area residents toured the Romulus Help Center last month to gain insights into the community mental health and senior help facility.

An open house introduced visitors to the variety of services provided by the Romulus Help Center in the two buildings located on Goddard Road near Wayne Road.

Joan Oddy, president of the RHC Board of Directors, was present to introduce and welcome three new board members.

According to Executive Director Alton M. Shelly, the RHC provides counseling for family problems, alcoholism and drug abuse. It is a private, non-profit counseling center which is funded by Southeastern Michigan Substance Abuse Services, the city of Romulus.

insurances and fees.

Among the services provided are group therapy, individual counseling, psychiatric consultation, court evaluations, industrial consultants, information and referral. Speakers also are available for community groups.

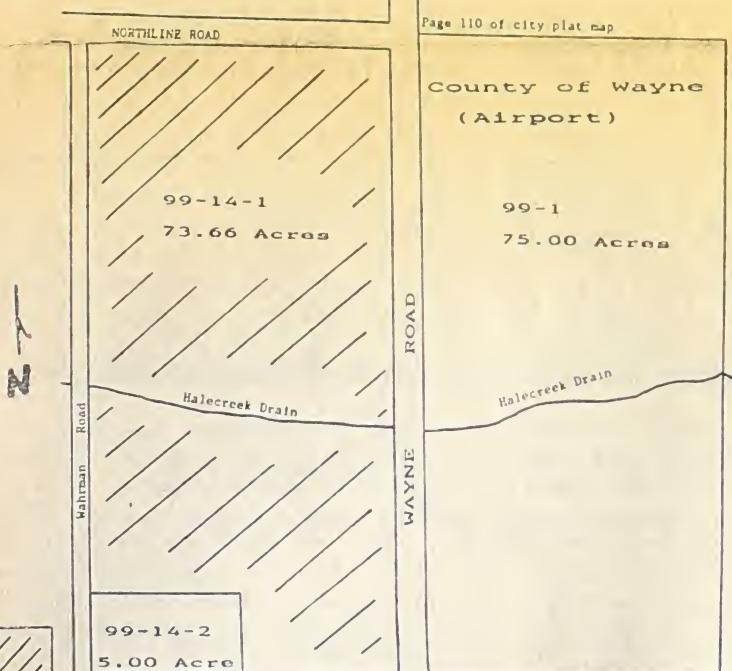

In the second facet of the operation, according to Shelly, the RHC provides services for senior citizens. These include minor home repair, personal care, homemaker services and chore services which enable senior citizens to live independently in their own homes.

Minor carpentry and electrical work plus plumbing repairs are available for people 60 years of age or older.

Area residents who are in need of services may call the center at 942-7585 to determine their eligibility.

County 1987 tax rate is restored

By JANICE FRITZ
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne County residents next year will continue to pay the 7.07 mills in county taxes they paid in 1987, despite a state law that would have required the taxing rate to be reduced to 7.0516 mills.

County commissioners staged a public hearing last week to gather public reaction to a proposed restoration of the 7.07 millage rate. No one attended the meeting, and the commissions adopted the revised millage rate.

Because of the state Headlee law adopted in 1982, the millage in Wayne County was automatically rolled back for the new fiscal year to 7.0516 mills. The reduction in the taxing levy was necessary under the law because rising home values in the county produced more taxing revenues in 1987 than were collected in 1986, even though the millage rate remained the same.

By law, in order for the county to restore the 7.07 mills, a public hearing must first be conducted.

Leito Durley, director of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, said that the millage rate in Wayne County has not been increased in almost 20 years. The action by the board of commissioners last week is a restoration of the 1987 taxing rate, he said. Durley said 1 mill is equal to one-tenth of a cent for the county and that without the hearing the county would have lost about $2.5 million for the general fund during the 1987-88 fiscal year beginning Dec. 1.

"The meeting was just a formality," said Durley.

County taxes - in addition to those for school districts, parks and the hospital authority - are collected with the city tax bills.

Membership in Conference more costly

Members of the 17-community Conference of Western Wayne will be receiving their dues statements for the 1988 fiscal year in the near future.

The statements reflect an increase which CWW officials said was necessitated "in order to step up to the next level in the evolution of CWW and to obtain the professional services desired to support that level."

The budget for the 1988 fiscal year includes $16,350 in operational cost; $82,810, salaries and wages; $11,594, fringes (unemployment, workers compensation, hospitalization, etc.); program delivery costs, $23,786. The $134,540 total budget is supported with mem-

Opinion

Wise decisions will soon pay off

A wise investment will net huge rewards.

Wayne city officials are learning how true that statement is this year by watching a $340 million stamping plant unfold before their eyes. They are watching as city finance officials add up the net gain to the city - about an additional $1 million in total city tax revenues during the first 12 years the plant is operational - and they are watching as what once could be described as an economically faltering city come back to life with a sound tax base, positive public image and brighter future for all residents.

But the rosy scenario just painted has not always been so blissful. Even as recent as last week city officials heard complaints and criticism about their decision to grant the automaker a 50-percent, 12-year tax abatement for the plant and spend city money to improve the land needed in the project.

Opponents of the abatement argue that the tax break - which will save Ford Motor Co. about $4 million each year for 12 years - is too extensive and will cost the taxpayers an unreasonable amount of money. These people also purport that officials should not spend city money to improve the 45-acre site needed to build the plant. (To date, city officials have spent about $16,000.)

But these opponents of the plan are missing the boat in terms of long-term investment and gain. These critics fail to see the net benefit the stamping plant will have on the city and future tax base of it.

These people also don't understand the nature of the multinational business world.

Tax abatements are seldom understood by the public, probably because those whose job it is to communicate the issue miss their mark. Tax abatements are a fact of life in the industrial world, and they are the competitive edge for local municipalities.

The case for Ford was simple. Either Wayne city officials grant the company a 12-year tax abatement for the stamping plant - the maximum amount of time allowed by state law - or the new stamping plant would be located somewhere else. There was no negotiating. There was no debate. Wayne city officials were wise enough to know the rules of the game.

But the city is by no means on the losing end of the stick. Tax abatements and community land improvement efforts are like buying a share of stock. The gamble is always a factor, but the long-term rewards for the successful investors are well worth the risks.

The city of Wayne, barring any last-minute pullout of the automaker or cancellation of the start of construction of the plant Nov. 1, can safely add $1 million each year to the city coffers. Sure, the city might have to spend $16,000 to improve the land. Moreover, the city must agree to allow the automaker to pay only one-half of the taxes on the new stamping plant for the next 12 years. But, overall, the Wayne residents will be the victors.

We're commending Wayne city officials this week for a job well done. The planning, the insight, the carefully devised strategies to attract the plant to the city are now all well worth the controversy they garnered in their own time.

Sure, there will still be those who criticize the new plant, and there will be those who will never truly understand how beneficial the tax break will be to all residents and will go on grumbling for an eternity or until they forget what they were even complaining about in the beginning.

And then there will be the truly wise. They will understand that a wise investment will net huge rewards. And they will bask in those rewards time and time again.

We're still waiting . . .

Two weeks ago, we asked local readers to write their local lawmakers about their opinions of a proposed sale of the five hospitals owned by the Peoples Community Hospital Authority, as recommended in a recent study by the University of Michigan.

The study calls for significant changes in the way the Authority is governed and operated, and a sale offers a refreshing upbeat attitude to the future of the financially doomed public health care institutions.

But we still need your reactions. Your lawmakers do, too, so they can formulate the legislation that will allow the sale to take place or, as the PCHA board of directors has recommended, allow the entity to become a private, nonprofit organization.

Getting the newspaper you deserve

What makes a newspaper work? During my seven-year stay at the Free Press, I learned a great deal about what makes a newspaper tick. When newspapers work, they make money for their owners and stockholders. When they don't work, sadly, they usually are sold or go out of business.

A newspaper publisher must be on guard that at the very time of celebrating accomplishments in one area of this business, the seeds of destruction may be being cultivated in another. To be sure, Associated Newspapers has had a fair share of successes and failures.

Recently, I have been traveling in an attempt to take a sounding as to the future of the publishing business for one of the little guys such as myself. In Portland two weeks ago, I talked to suppliers about the emerging technology of desk-top publishing and pagination which is page building on a video screen.

I also listened to a newspaper expert and anaylst tell all the publishers in attendance at the National Newspaper Association Convention to, "Go home and take a look at what you're doing. Many of you will be out of business in five years because of an unwillingness to change."

He reminded me that the complaints of advertisers tend to be common across the country. "Advertisers running one ad are like getting a date on Saturday night and thinking you'll find the person of your dreams." Conversely, we let advertisers do it. "We must get back to selling advertising instead of an ad," the speaker continued. He reminded me of something I learned long ago. If an ad doesn't run at least eight times, the advertiser has wasted his money. These local merchants and businessmen must understand that buying advertising is making a commitment, to their community and their own business.

Our staff comprises individuals who want very much to please, and therefore, they allow the advertiser to take actions they know are not in their best interests. They agree when they should say, "No, don't do that. Do this

Wayne coverage loudly lauded

To The Editor:

Hurray and congratulations! The Wayne Eagle is finally starting to really cover the city of Wayne.

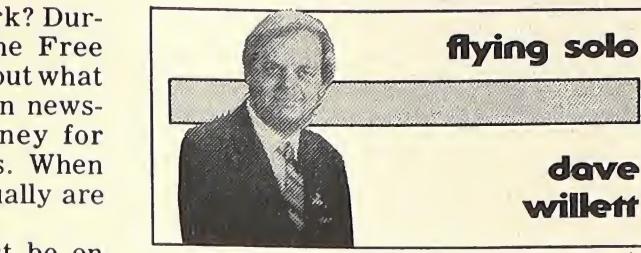

It has seemed in the past that although we live in Wayne and subscribe to the Wayne Eagle, the most extensive coverage was always for other cities...Romulus, Westland, Livonia, etc.

It's not that we are not interested in the news from other areas, but Wayne is where we live, work and play, and coverage of our city is what is most important to us.

Within the last two weeks we have seen more extensive coverage for the Wayne Memorial football team, homecoming, and the marching "Zebra" band. This is a great start!

We are now looking forward to getting our hometown paper and seeing even more coverage of these groups as well as all the other activities going on in Wayne.

Please remind your readers

instead."

In Washington, D.C., I spoke with newspaper people during a one-day meeting. The sounding from across the country seems to be that the "rust belt," which includes Michigan, is doing far better than a few years ago, and considerably better than some other sectors of the country.

Friday night I attended a political fundraiser at the Westin and we heard the thoughts of those in Lansing. Then Sunday, my son, Doug, and I attended a bash hosted by the governor where I chatted with an old friend, Neil Shine, of the Free Press.

What it all means, I guess, is that in Michigan we have become accustomed to a three-or four-year swing in our economy due to our dependency on the automotive industry. Many are convinced that the other shoe will drop and our economy will falter once again. I think about it, but am not so sure that we have not begun at least to buffer ourselves. Perhaps the highs will not be as high or the lows as low for now at least.

Western Wayne County is, in part, at least enjoying a rebound and a growth not seen in my lifetime. Shopping centers, commercial development and housing construction is epidemic in many if not most of our communities.

The newspaper community, both nationally and locally, struggles to find out what the readers and advertisers want so that we can provide it to them. Complicating it all is the fickle nature of the reader and advertiser. These mysterious folks tell us constantly that they want something other than what we give them, and so we attempt to give it to them. We try, desperately, to win their and support and what we somein Wayne to report all the news going on in their lives-school, church, sports and share their pride in these activities.

All news can't be good news, but Wayne news should be covered more than any other news in our own hometown paper.

We are now starting to see this coverage, and again we say, "Hurray and congratulations!"

Keep up the good work!

Tri-City program future questioned

To The Editor:

It is with a great deal of frustration that I write this letter. As a Westland tax payer, licensed foster parent and a recreation therapist and along with many disabled individuals, their families, friends and concerned professionals, I am "baffled" by a recent decision by the Mayor which is supported by the majority of city council regarding the Westland participation in the Tri-City Therapeutic Recreation Program.

After 11 years, the city has suddenly decided to "pull out" of what is widely recognized as the top recreation and sports program for the disabled in the state of Michigan . . . the Tri-City Therapeutic Recreation Program. The city administration has indicated that its "bagging" the Tri-City program and creating a Westland-resident only program. It is citing "budget cutbacks" and "non-resident participation" as the basis for the pullout.

Unfortunately, the city has not been able to substantiate its decision with facts, and when pressed for an answer by taxpayers, certain members of the administration and city council have responded with anger, misinformation, unsubstantiated claims and personal attacks on those asking questions.

The following outlines the reasons why Westland should remain a member of the Tri-City Therapeutic Recreation Program with the cities of

Wayne and Garden City:

The Tri-City Program has an 11-year history of providing a high level of quality recreation and leisure opportunities to the mentally and physically disabled program participants and their families.

Westland, for the last 11 years, has been responsible for 60 percent of the programs operating budget, Wayne 15 percent, and Garden City 25 percent. This is based on a formula which reflects each city's share of the total three-city population.

Westland budget contribution has been restricted to the program supervisor's salary, a percentage of a secretary's salary and some postage and printing costs. Westland's cost has been fixed costs and are basically not affected by the number of participants.

By going on its own, Westland will now have to pay for equipment, operating supplies, support services, all program staff to supervise and lead activities along with other miscellaneous costs, which, over the last 11 years, were covered by Wayne and Garden City.

Tell us about mothers-in-law

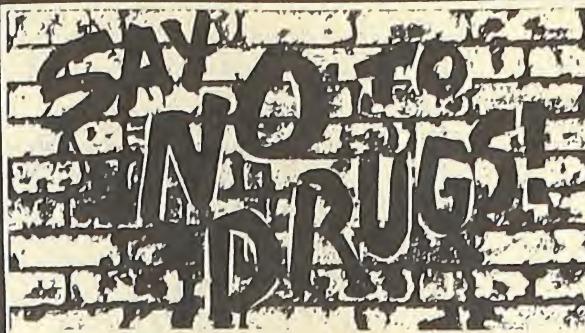

Are mothers-in-law guilty of meddling and favoritism, or is the stereotype image a myth like the wicked stepmother of children's fairy tales?

We believe many mothers-in-law are like Westland resident Marion Foley who was nominated by her daughter-in-law, Linda Foley, to be honored on Mother's Day. In the letter which Linda Foley submitted, she wrote that her mother-in-law "has been my mother for nine years and she has taught me the meaning of love. In those nine years she has been my friend, comforter, nurse, advisor, confidante and a 'true mother' to me."

A new holiday honoring mothers-in-law is slated to be celebrated on the last Sunday of October. On the Wednesday prior to that date, Associated Newspapers will take an in-depth look at the relationships between mothers-in-law and the spouses of their sons and daughters.

The names of special mothers-in-law should be submitted prior to Oct. 19. In the Oct. 21 edition, we will list an "honor roll" of good mothers-in-law along with comments about their special attributes. In the event that we receive some negative comments, we will publish those minus the names in another column.

Send your nominations to Associated Newspapers, P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Mich. 48184, or the Belleville Enterprise, P.O. Box 278, Belleville, Mich. 48111.

HAIR SPRAY

Charlotte Newsome

Backcombing and hairspray is used to achieve this effect, which Charlotte said takes her about one-half hour every morning. "I get a lot of stares with this style, but not as many as I used to get when my hair was much longer and I wore it like this," she explained.

Mike Sharp

Thick, wavy hair never looked better, and it never goes out of style.

Pete Woo

A combination of spiked and shaved hair is what Pete Woo likes to have to set him apart from everyone else.

Eddie Drotar

Hair that is shaved on the side seems to be the style of the season for football players and wrestlers, according to Eddie Drotar, of Wayne Memorial High School.

Angie Schuer

Angie likes the "long and loose" look. She said it only takes her a few minutes to style her hair, which she maintains with a perm.

Jenni Foley

Jenni works with food every day, so she needs to keep her hair off of her face. One way to do this with style is to opt for a "banana clip," which pulls all the hair off the face.

Hair

Stylists see trends for new year

By JANICE FRITZ
ANP Staff Writer

An old saying states that a woman's hair is her crowning glory. But it is an old saying.

Today, men, women and children alike have placed hairstyling among their top priorities of fashion. And with the changing trends in the industry, local hairdressers admit that they must continually keep on their toes to stay in step with the times.

"Finding the right hairstyle for the individual is the most important thing that hairdressers must do," said Laurie Uhl, owner of Cutting Corners, located on Lilley Road in Canton Township.

Uhl sees many changes in the industry, but, she said, most trends are not for most people. The key to proper hairstyling, she continued, is in determining the style that best fits the person.

"There has to be a great deal of trust between the hairdresser and the client," said Uhl.

Nevertheless, trendy hairstyles will remain the "in" thing to have, Uhl said. So, "If you can't beat them, join them."

What trends can we expect?

"The biggest changes will be in men's styling next year. Hair will be longer in the back and very short on top. Bi-levels will be the big thing for them," said Uhl.

But for women? Long hair will continue to be in vogue. And "wild" will be wonderful.

"It has to be easy to care for, especially for the working women who do not have a great deal of time to work on their styles," Uhl said.

"The men will be more apt to find a style that's right for them and stick to it a lot longer than women. I guess it's because women are able to be a lot more versatile with their hair than men are. But with women, I think they'll tend to change their hair about every six months or so. They'll change it around the holidays and then again around the summertime, when they want an easier hairstyle," she continued.

Hairstyles offer clues to personality

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

We know that we "should never judge a book by its cover," but we often make an opinion about an individual based on his or her hair style.

Regardless of the fact that we need to study the entire person before making a evaluation, hair styles seem to provide some easy clues for snap judgements. During the '60s hair became a major issue as society separated the good guys (those with short hair) from the bad guys (those whose hair "was down to here, down to there, down to where it stops by itself").

More recently, we have observed anti-establishment types opting for military style short cuts or even shaved heads.

Teens, of course, are among the first to hop on the bandwagon of new fads and fashions. If adults are wearing closely-cropped locks, then they will probably choose to grow their hair long. On the other hand, when the style swings back to the longer styles, the teens will reach for the scissors, thereby making the important statement that they are unique individuals. So what if their clothes or hair styles are so similar that they appear to be a teen uniform? At least, their hair can make the statement that they are different from their parents and other adults.

Another way to express individuality is through hair color. Bright hues or contrasting stripes and streaks are signs of a desire to set one's self apart from the "ordinary" folks. The disguising of gray hair to retain a youthful image has extended to the male population where hair coloring is becoming more and more acceptable. The bleaching of hair to a Marilyn Monroe-blonde may be a sign that the woman would like to attract the attention and admiration that the golden-haired actress enjoyed, or she may believe - or hope - that "blondes have more fun."

It is a popular theory that one can guess the year a woman graduated from high school by her current hair style. The reason, they believe, is that women tend to cling to the period in their lives that they consider to be an especially happy one. Consequently, there is a belief that women retain a memory of their school days through the wearing of the hair-do of that time, or a variation of it.

Because it is easier to change a hair-do than a wardrobe, women tend to use a hair style to signal a change in herself. Men, who usually keep a hair style for several years, may also use the adoption of a new style to signal a change of attitude or personality. Keeping the same hair style for years may be a message in itself - that the individual is rigid and not able to change to adjust to new conditions and circumstances.

The way we wear out hair often reveals parts of our personality, experts say. ANP photos by Mike Cardew/staff photographer grandson-in-law, the Rev. Donald Teno.

The couple have lived in Romulus for the past 48 years and enjoy boating, fishing, bowling and bocce. They have seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

McCloskey - 50th

A celebration was staged in honor of Beatrice and Richard McCloskey of Romulus to mark their 50th wedding anniversary.

The two were married Sept. 25, 1937, in Angola, Ind.

A party at the Dearborn Inn on Sept. 26 was hosted by their family, including their children, Gordon and Richard McCloskey and Beverly Ott. For the occasion, a limousine picked the couple up and transported them to the inn for dinner and a renewal of their wedding vows. Presiding at the ceremony was their

Brenda Poddam, however, doesn't agree. Poddam, a beauty operator at Banana's Hair Salon in Westland, said that many regular clients seldom have the desire to change hairstyles.

"I have a lot of regular customers who specifically ask for me because they feel comfortable with me, and they know I know what they want. They don't want to deal with people who aren't familiar with their styles, and they definitely don't want a mistake," Poddam said.

As for what encourages people to change their hairstyles, Uhl and Poddam both have their own theories.

"For some odd reason, we'll get women who come in while they're going through a divorce or after losing their jobs or anything equally upsetting, and they'll say they want a new image or they want to start over," explained Uhl. "A new hairstyle seems to be a good way to do that. A lot of times, a woman will find herself in a rut and will wonder what she can do to change her looks a little bit. Usually, a change in the hairstyle will be all that a person needs to alter the way she looks. I've seen women take 10 years off their faces by just parting with the long, outdated hairstyles."

Glenn Hugo, a musician from Inkster, is also a hairstylist. Hugo said he has noticed that men are becoming increasingly bold in experimenting with hair. They are even into changing the color, Hugo said.

"Because I am a man, I have a lot of male friends who will come to me and ask me if I'll frost or lighten their hair. I guess they still feel a little uncomfortable than having a woman color their hair because they don't feel macho having it done. But it's OK for guys to change their hair color. It isn't at all as unusual as it once used to be."

Cooking

'Young pro'

Cake maker grew up in the food business

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Sarita Chadwick rattles off recipe ingredients like an old pro. She has attained the pro status, despite her young age of 26.

"I got started cooking early in life," she explained.

Raised above the family business on Wayne Road in Romulus - Stephens Pharmacy, a local landmark since it opened more than 30 years ago - Chadwick grew up in the food business. While her pharmacist-father, Horace Stephens, tended the drug counter, her mother, Sarah, worked the soda fountain where the delicious hamburgers and thick milk shakes of the family name became legends.

"But with six kids to raise, I was the baby. My mother didn't do much cooking at home," Chadwick said. "But the four girls did. Cooking is just something I've done since I was a child. I remember baking in an 'easy bake' oven," said Chadwick, who is the mother of two children herself.

Chadwick jokes about her husband, Alfred, whose mother is "a fantastic cook."

"My husband's family has a lot of family get-togethers. He is used to eating good food. He often kids me, saying he is lucky he married someone who could cook... and if he didn't, he wouldn't know what to do," she said.

Chadwick put her cooking show to test this year by starting a business - "Creative Cakes." One favorite of the business, she said, is the "tasters' choice" parties, in which "people can delight themselves in tasting some of the most delectable homemade cakes, pies, cookies, tortes and puddings available."

The local cook has become best noted for her creativity in designing cakes. Some of her favorite designs, she said, have been theme cakes such as Ms. Pac Man, Big Bird, footballs and saxophones. She also recently completed a tiered cake with a waterfall for her pastor's anniversary.

In the future, Chadwick would like to open a soul food restaurant and give up her midnight job at a local manufacturer.

Chadwick is, in fact, such an avid baker that she received her first labor pains before the birth of her daughter when she was taking the last of a batch of cookies out of the oven.

"First things first . . ." Chadwick noted with a chuckle.

Here are a few of her favorite recipes.

Sarita Chadwick

ONE-PAN LASAGNA

1 32-ounce jar chunky-style spaghetti sauce
1 8-ounce package mozzarella cheese
1 8-ounce box lasagna noodles
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup small curd cottage cheese
1 cup Parmesan cheese
1 pound ground beef or hamburger

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Brown hamburger in skillet and drain grease very well. Add hamburger and spaghetti sauce, reserving 3/4 cup sauce for top layer of lasagna. Blend egg and cottage cheese together. Begin layering noodles, meat sauce, cottage cheese mixture, mozzarella cheese and Parmesan cheese, alternately with noodles and ending with noodles on top layer. Add reserved spaghetti sauce to top layer. Cover with mozzarella cheese. Bake for 30 minutes or until bubbly. Serves 4.

SWEET POTATO PIE

3 to 4 fresh yams
1 cup sugar
1 stick butter or margarine
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon nutmeg
2 eggs

1 cup evaporated milk

Cook yams until tender and done. Peel yams and place in large mixing bowl. Add and combine all ingredients and mix until smooth. Spoon into homemade or frozen pie crust and place in preheated oven at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Bake until lightly browned. Makes two pies.

PUMPKIN MUFFINS

1 1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1 16-ounce can pumpkin
1/4 butter or margarine, melted
1 egg
1/2 cup raisins

Heat oven to 400 degrees. Grease bottoms of 12 medium muffin cups. Mix all ingredients just until flour is moistened. Batter should be lumpy. Fill muffin cups 2/3 full. Sprinkle 1/4 teaspoon sugar over batter in each cup. Bake 18 to 20 minutes. Immediately remove from pan. Makes 12 muffins.

APPLE MUFFINS

1/4 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
2 cups sifted, all-purpose flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2/3 teaspoon cinnamon or apple pie spice
1 cup milk
1 cup chopped apples mixed with 1/4 cup sugar

Preheat oven to 375 degrees.

Cream shortening in a large bowl, adding sugar gradually and mixing well. Add egg and continue beating. Sift flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon or spice together and then add to shortening mixture alternately with milk, mixing well. Gently fold in apples. Bake in muffin tins which have been well greased and floured or lined with paper-baking cups about 24 minutes. Should make about 12 muffins.

LEMON GLAZE

1 cup confectioners' sugar
Juice of two lemons (Or about 1/4 cup reconstituted)

Blend confectioners' sugar with lemon juice. While cake is still warm, cover surface with glaze.

Speaker addresses terrorist threats

Since 1942, when the congregation at First Church of Christ Scientist-Wayne, sponsored the first public lecture on Christian Science, lectures have been staged in the Wayne community each year.

This week guest lecturer Jean Stark Hebenstreit of Kansas City, Mo., will be speaking on "Christian Science: Its Way of Life Unterrorized".

In the late 1800s, Christian Science lectures were introduced at a time of great public interest in the new denomination which had been founded in Boston in 1879. Newspaper reports regarding adherents' practice of Christian healing were widespread. The lectures offered the public the opportunity to hear firsthand accounts of what Christian Science teaches and to learn something about their Christian Science neighbors' beliefs. The settings were public and the event was informational rather than proselytic.

Jean Stark Hebenstreit

During the years, the lectures have retained the same basic purpose--providing the public an opportunity to learn something about a church with a long history on the local religious scene. This year, the lecturers are focusing on three growing areas of concern: violence, the breakdown of the family and health.

The local congregation has scheduled Hebenstreit's lecture to begin at 3:00 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 18 at First Church of Christ Scientist, 36016 Michigan Ave., Wayne. It will last one hour.

Hebenstreit is active in the denomination ministry of Christian healing as a Christian Science Practitioner. (A Christian Science practitioner gives his/her full time to the public practice of Christian Science healing through prayer.) Her lecture on "Christian Science: Its Way of Life Unterrorized" will include accounts of physical healing that have come about as the result of prayer and a spiritual understanding of God.

The public is invited to attend the lecture on Sunday, Oct. 18. There is no charge, and child care will be available.

Celebrating 25

Pastors return for gala party

Members of St. Michael Lutheran Church of Wayne celebrated the 25th anniversary of the church last weekend. But it wasn't just an ordinary celebration.

All four pastors who have served the church during those 25 years returned to take part in the festivities.

The Rev. Paul Dorn, of Big Rapids, the Rev. Darrell Nelson of Durham, N.C., and the Rev. Alan Braun of Roseville, Minn., returned to St. Michael's to share the anniversary with the current pastor, the Rev. Thomas Wirsing.

Each pastor performed an act at the talent show on Saturday and participated in both morning worship services at 8:15 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. Three choirs and two handbell groups performed, and Kathy Taylor, organist since the church was founded, served as the accompanist.

The first service for the congregation was conducted on Oct. 22, 1961, at Schweitzer School on Glennwood in Wayne. The church received an official charter from the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod Michigan District in February 1962.

FOLLOWING 30 YEARS as a letter carrier, Chuck "Swampy" Marsh retired from the U.S. Postal Service July 31. A retirement party is scheduled at Lerights, 626 S. Wayne Road, Westland, on Oct. 17. Those interested in attending should contact the Westland postmaster at 326-6033.

GRAHAM FRIZZELL, CANTON resident and new car salesperson for Dick Scott Dodge, Inc. in Plymouth, has received an award for individual performance in selling Dodge vehicles. Frizzell has reached the silver level of recognition in the Dodge Sales Professionals Club. In the club, specially designed incentives and awards are provided for outstanding product knowledge and sales achievement.

CABLEVISION OF WAYNE launched the Fashion Channel on Oct. 1. Billed as "a new basic cable television service offering viewers an innovative way to purchase first-quality, name-brand apparel and accessories for the entire family at popular prices," the new service will be shared with the PASS channel (channel 29). Mike Reynolds, Cablevision general manager, has announced that the Fashion Channel will be available to all basic subscribers at times when PASS is not on the air. Programming is scheduled for the hours of 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays and 10 a.m. to noon Saturdays and Sundays.

RONALD T. KOSINSKI has been named president of Horizons Unlimited, Inc., a major automotive supplier with locations in Romulus, Catasauqua, Pa., and Tiffin, Ohio. Kosinski, formerly the vice president of marketing, joined the firm - which specializes in screw machines, cold forming, heat treating and related secondary operations - in 1986. He is internationally known in the metal fabricating industry.

THE HURON-CLINTON METROPOLITAN Authority honored several employees at the annual recognition dinner Oct. 10. Among those honored was Steve A. Shaffer, former chief park ranger and later a member of the grounds maintenance staff of Lower Huron Metro Park. Shaffer retired on April 1, after 29 years of service. Shaffer, a resident of New Boston, attended Romulus High School and began working in the park system on June 17, 1957.

JEANNE KASHIAN AND Delores Vesche, who work at Shirley Dean's Flowers in Inkster, have been certified as "senior designers" by Florists' Transworld Delivery Association. Achieving the distinction requires completion of flower identification and design style identification tests and the passing of a series of tests requiring the design of specific floral arrangements from predetermined categories. The designer club program was recently introduced by FTD to encourage excellence and creativity in floral design.

Still cutting: Sadie is veteran stylist

By TERRY JACOBY
ANP Staff Writer

Priming and pampering are what have made Sadie's Salon on Wayne Road in Wayne famous for more than 40 years.

"One reason for our success is that we are interested in our clients and their concerns," said Sadie Metzgian, who is celebrating her 40th anniversary as one of the top hairdressers in the area this month.

"Now I am shooting for 50," she said. "I never thought I would be doing this for 40 years, but I really love what I am doing."

Sadie and her husband, Dick Metzgian, opened the salon - located at 3131 S. Wayne Road - in October 1947.

"When we started, we had only two stations and two hairdressers," Sadie explained.

The veteran hairdresser is a graduate of the Dearborn Beauty School and the Virginia Farrell School.

"We draw people from all over the area who expect a good job, and we cater to the woman who wants to be pampered and serviced."

"We are a small business," Sadie added. "We can't compete with the $6 haircuts, and that's why we must do a good job if we are to stay in business."

And, she said, the quality not only brings people from outside of Wayne to the business, but it also brings people back again and again.

"I would say at least 95 percent of our business are people who have been here before," said Sadie. "We do a lot of repeat business, and that is very rewarding."

Sadie's specialty is corrective hairstyling and color. But cutting hair - whatever the color, texture or style - has become a love of her life.

And even with 40 years of experience under her belt, Sadie said she must still keep up with the times.

Sadie will celebrate her 40th anniversary with an open house at 3 p.m. Oct. 17. Several haircutting discounts will be offered, including a 40-percent reduction in price of the bill for anyone who has lived in Wayne for 40 years, is celebrating 40 years of marriage or whose children's ages add up to 40.

ROMULUS HIGH SCHOOL PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Accounting for 12 solo tackles and four assists, Ricky Champagne played an outstanding defensive game for the Romulus Eagles

Closing in

Robichaud one-away from title

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Robichaud is one victory away from capturing the 1987 Suburban Athletic Conference football championship.

After whipping Highland Park 26-0 on Saturday, Coach Bob Yauck and his Bulldogs are sporting a 4-0 conference record. With Willow Run and arch-rival, Inkster, standing in their paths Robichaud can wrap up half of the title on Saturday with a victory over the Flyers and become sole title owners the following week if they can stop at the Vikings.

Willow Run does pose a problem for the Bulldogs, according to Yauck.

"They are an up-and-down team," Yauck admits, "but they have always given us a good game. With River Rouge (4-1) breathing down our necks, we can't afford a setback. A victory this week would mean we have clinched at least half of the title."

Scoring in each of the four quarters, Robichaud wrapped up its fifth consecutive victory on Saturday at the expense of the Parkers' who have yet to win a league game this year.

Tyrone Wheatley, shut out of the end zone the week before against Rouge, came back with the first Bulldog touchdown as he scooted one yard off tackle for the TD with 4:14 left in the initial period. His six-pointer was set up by a bad Highland Park snap from center that gave the ball to Robichaud deep inside Parker territory. Eric Thomas and Michael Aaron combined on the two-point conversion.

The score remained 8-0 until the last four minutes to the intermission when Thomas and senior tight end Tyju Armstrong hooked up in a scoring 17-yard pass. That TD was set up by full-back Carl Brown's 29-yard off-tackle gain.

The Bulldogs put an insurance touchdown on the scoreboard in the waning minutes of the third period when Toby Griffin plowed into a Highland Park receiver. The airborne ball was grabbed by Robichaud's Lennell Brooks who raced 56 yards for the touchdown. The league-leader tilted the scoreboard in the last quarter when Thomas and Armstrong again combined on a 26-yard touchdown toss.

Brown had an exceptional day with the ball as he rushed for 100 yards on seven carries; Thomas connected on five of 11 passes for 96 yards and two touchdowns and Wheatley's contribution was 35 yards on 13 tries.

Robichaud middle linebacker Gary Johnson accounted for two interceptions - one he brought back 42 yards.

"Gary played a superb game," Yauck said. "He exemplifies the type of play we have been getting from our defense this season."

The Bulldogs, after losing a 29-20 decision to non-conference rival, Birmingham Country Day, the defending Class B state champs, have shutout four of their last five opponents. Only Oak Park, which dropped a 40-6 decision to the Dearborn Heights gridders, has managed to break the TD zone.

Yauck was also pleased with the overall performance of his junior quarterback, Eric Thomas. Thomas, a 5-9, 155-pound junior, has started at the offensive throttle since his freshman year.

"He has shown a lot of confidence this year and he's making his own plays, coming up with some clutch throws in tough situations."

Eagles continue their cage nosedive

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

When opportunity knocks, you're supposed to open the door.

Unfortunately for the Romulus girls' cage club they didn't take advantage of their opportunities against an erratic Ann Arbor Pioneer quintet and saw the door slammed in their faces, 38-30.

Coach Ron Bayes was disappointed in the loss, and he had this comment afterwards: "This was a game that I felt we had a chance to win, and we didn't."

Pioneer built up a 14-7 lead after the first eight minutes, but the Eagles, led by center Lauri Berlinn, who scored six of her team-high 13 points in the second period, outscored their rivals 11-3 to overcome the deficit at the halfway mark and go ahead 18-17. The Eagles remained ahead 27-23 after three quarters when they suddenly hit a cold spell in the fourth quarter.

Romulus failed to score for seven of the eight minutes and missed six one-and-ones in that span as Pioneer came back with a 15-3 scoring advantage in the last period to seal the victory.

The Eagles looked pitiful at the free-throw line where they canned only six of 26 chances.

The loss dropped Romulus to a 2-6 overall and an 0-3 South Central Conference record.

On Thursday, Ida, behind the sharpshooting of Jenny Peters and Renee McNeil, jumped to 17-4 lead in the first period en route to a 56-34 victory over the Eagles.

McNeil finished the game with 19 points and 15 rebounds for the winners while Peters tossed in five of her 14 in the first period.

Berlinn, who had difficulty finding the range, finished with nine points and 14 rebounds.

back Ali Campbell who scored the first and what proved to be the only Romulus TD of the game. Blandford's successful conversion followed.

But Romulus couldn't maintain the momentum. Despite junior linebacker Ricky Champagne's heroics - he had 12 solo tackles and four assists - Saginaw managed to break the deadlock with a pair of touchdowns in the third period. They iced it with a six-pointer in the finale.

"We played a good first half," said Glover, "and then didn't carry out our offensive assignments the second half. In order to win, we have to put together four quarters - just one half doesn't count."

Campbell finished the game with 74 yards rushing in 14 carries, leading the Eagles in the ball-carrying category. Joining Champagne as a defensive standout was tackle Maurice Bridges who contributed six solo tackles and two assists.

"I have to commend the entire defensive line," Glover said. "All of those kids played an exceptional game. We need a similar effort from them and more offense in order to stop Garden City this week."

21.20 points to win her specialty, and Owsley contributed a first place in the 100-yard butterfly in 1:13.0. Cooper chose Tracie Gentle, Natalie Schroeder, Rachel Shure and Merritt for the 400-yard freestyle relay and the foursome responded with the winning time of 4:17.42.

Venturing out of the league earlier in the week proved costly for the Tigers, who dropped a 105-66 decision to Dearborn

Edsel Ford, a one-time state swim powerhouse. Montie, in the 50 freestyle; Drucker, in diving, and the medley relay squad of Sikes, Owsley, Montie and Schroeder provided the Tigers with their only victories against the T-Birds.

"I felt our girls looked tired," Cooper said. "However, Edsel has a fine program and let's not take anything away from them."

The fishing derby is co-sponsored by the Inkster Recreation Department and the Environmental Waste Control, Inc.

"Over the years this has developed into one of the more popular derbies for the youngsters," said Gregory J. Ulbrich, recreation facilities manager. "We are expecting an excellent turnout."

Belleville is back on victory trail

Belleville's girls' basketball team is back on the winning track.

After losing to Romulus last week, Coach Michael Garland and his Tigers roared back to beat Wolverine 'A' Conference rival, Wyandotte, 41-25, last Tuesday, then rallied to a 36-27 victory over Lincoln Park, for their third conference triumph in seven starts.

"We're beginning to play basketball the way I know this team can," said Garland, whose Tigers have two tough games this week. "What our goal is, is to steadily improve. And we appear to be accomplishing that."

Belleville ran up against league power Fordson on Tuesday and will take on Trenton on Thursday. Both are away games.

In the meantime, Kathy Murphy and Toni Wilson combined for 29 of their team's 41 points against the Bruins of Wyandotte. Murphy scored a game high 17 points and swept the boards for six rebounds while Wilson sank 12 points.

The Tigers made 11 of 22 at the free throw line and sank 15 of 50 from the field.

Belleville has its problems against Lincoln Park as both teams got off to a slow start. After one period the score stood 5-3 in the Tigers' favor. But the Parkers tied it at the buzzer 13-all at the halfway mark, setting up a thrilling second half. Christy Garrett, Jennifer Catlka and Murphy each tossed in four points as the Tigers outscored their rivals 14-4 in the third period to go ahead for good.

Garrett finished with a season high 19 points.

FALL SOFTBALL STANDINGS have been released by the Canton Township Parks and Recreation Department. In the American division, the teams finished as follows: 1) Genesis (7-1), 2) Glen's Gumbys (4-4), 3) Tri-Star (4-2), 4) Wrights Softball Club (3-3) and 5) Lumber Mart Inc. (2-6). In the National division: 1) GYB Tool & Die (6-2), 2) Dental Diplomats (4-4), 3) Circuit Riders (4-4), 4) Gingell Chiropractors (3-5) and 5) Predators (1-7).

NORTHERN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY has released the 1987-88 Hockey roster. The Wildcats are heading into the season with only four seniors, and Coach Rick Comley will be watching his young team carefully to see who the new leaders will be. Among the freshmen on the ice for NMU is Bill Pye of Canton. Pye will be wearing number one for the team in his position as goaltender. The 5-foot, 10-inch, 170-pounder played Junior A hockey before reporting to Marquette for the start of classes.

THE SPECIAL OLYMPICS 1987-88 season is about to begin in the Plymouth-Canton area. Programs in ice skating, bowling, track and field and swimming will be offered. Any mentally impaired individual, ages 8 and older, is eligible. Adult volunteers are also needed for the programs. If you are interested in participating or volunteering, call 397-2469 or 348-9300 after 6 p.m.

PALASTRA GYMNASTICS CLASS III Compulsory team took second place at the Great Lakes Invitational in Lansing Sept. 27. Fifteen teams participated in the daylong competition. In the junior division, Autumn Bunch, an eighth-grader at East Middle School in Plymouth, received a 9.0 on the floor exercise, which gave her second place for the event. Kim Rennolds, a seventh-grader at West Middle School, took first place on a vault with a score of 8.95 as well as second place on balance beam and second place in the all-around. Her total score was 33.95. In the children's division, Lyndi Paling of Wayne took third place in the vault with a score of 8.6.

CANTON PARKS AND RECREATION Department Seventh annual Punt, Pass and Kick Competition on Oct. 3 provided Canton youngsters a chance to "really show their stuff." In the 8-year-old group, Bobby Mayor won with a total of 104 feet, 5 inches. Patrick Noonan took second place with 85 feet, 4 inches. The 9-year-old group saw Kevin Borowski take first place with a 144-feet, 7-inch total. The 10-year-old group had a close race, with Mike Martin making the winning 157-feet, 9-inch effort, while Eric Vaquera was close behind with 153 feet, 6 inches. Among the 11-year-olds, Jason Gilbo came out on top with a 216-feet, 5-inch showing, and Eric Stoecklein took second with a 208-feet, 8-inch total. Craig Benedict led the 12-year-olds with 199 feet, 11 inches, including a pass of 88 feet, 2 inches. Benedict beat Jeff Schumacher, who took second with a total of 166 feet, 5 inches. The 13-year-old group leader was Chris Stoecklein, with an effort of 158 feet, 11 inches. The six winners will move on to regional competition later this month.

AN AEROBICS EXERCISE class has been announced by the Canton Department of Park and Recreation. Beginning Oct. 27, the seven-week session will be staged from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays in the Canton Township Administration Building. The fee is $35 for the classes, and babysitting is available at a cost of $1 per child. Further information is available by calling 397-5110.

Keep clubs up to par for better golfing

So you've noticed peculiar noises in your home lately? Halloween ghosts? Ghouls? Goblins? Probably not. It might just be the golf equipment in your closet crying, "Clean me! Clean me!"

One of my first tasks with new clients is to examine their equipment for appropriate swing weight, shaft flex, set make-up and overall condition. Frequently, those seeking game improvement are unaware of the importance of properly maintained equipment.

Here are several suggestions which will improve the condition of your equipment and may even lead to lower golf scores:

Care and Maintenance of Woods

• Examine your woods for bare and dry spots where water can penetrate and swell, particularly around the leading edge and sole plate. These areas can be repaired with a dab of polyurethane.

• Check the soleplate and insert screws for tightness using care not to round the screw heads.

• Small dents and scratches can be touched up with a dab of polyurethane or clear nail polish.

• Grooves in the face can be cleaned with a golf tee (do not go too deep).

• Examine the "whipping" (the black string on the neck of the club head) to insure tightness and uniformity. If loose, see your professional for repair.

• For woods in good condition, use a quality furniture polish to retard moisture and retain brilliancy.

Care of Irons

• Iron heads should be cleaned regularly wax on the face.

• Woods and irons should not turn or crack when twisted gently at grip and head. If movement occurs, consult your golf professional for a possible loose head.

Care and Maintenance of Grips

By following these simple guidelines, you can and will score better. Remember that a good part of this game is psychological. If you feel good about your equipment, it will perform more efficiently.

Homecoming

Vikings on roll, await Oak Park

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Inkster tuned up for this week's homecoming festivities with an impressive victory over Ecorse Friday afternoon.

The Vikings, behind Lorenzo Terrell's two touchdowns, destroyed the Red Raiders, 24-6, to end a four-game losing streak and post their first Wolverine 'A' Conference triumph of the 1987 campaign.

"We managed to put together the necessary offense with a very outstanding defense to win," said rookie head coach Alonso Glaze. "And we got some inspiration from would you believe a freshman?"

Glaze was referring to 5-9, 170-pound Vincent Totty who started at center and sparked the offense. "Vincent played an exceptional game, the kind of game you expect from a senior. He carried out his assignments like a pro," Glaze added.

However, the Vikings had to stage a come-from-behind rally to catch the Red Raiders who took a 6-0 lead that wasn't relinquished until midway in the second period. In that quarter, Inkster quarterback Earl Casey hooked up with Lionel Shivers on a 34-yard touchdown pass to tie the score at 6-all.

Then, Casey found his way over the goal line for the two-point conversion to give the Vikings the lead for good.

Terrell got into the scoring act in the second half thanks to a gift from Ecorse. The Red Raiders fumbled deep in their territory and Shivers pounced on the ball around the 19-yard line. After Casey drove Vikings to the four, he handed the ball to Terrell who drove through for the insurance TD. Terrell also ran over the two-point conversion.

Lafayette Upshaw set up the next Inkster score when he picked off a Red Raider pass at midfield and raced back to the 15 before he was nailed by one of the defenders. Again the Vikings managed to reach the four before Terrell polished off the rest of the distance.

Terrel's score was capped by Casey's two-point conversion.

Beside the two TDs, Terrell also accounted for 63 yards in 16 carries.

Joining Totty and Terrell for offensive accolades were split end Shivers and Casey. On defense, Upshaw, a linebacker accounted for eight solo tackles and two assists while Darnell Childers contributed six solos. Terrell, who worked double duty, playing a safety on defense, had four solos and managed to bat down several dangerous Red Raider passes.

On Friday, the Vikings will have the King & Queen of Homecoming - Antonio Powell and Travia Freeman - and their court on hand to view the action against Oak Park.

The Viking royalty will receive their crowns during half time ceremonies.

Oak Park is potentially an explosive team that has offense on its mind, according to Glaze.

"Disregard their record," Glaze said. "They have lost some close ball games this year and I expect them to be really tough. They are offense-minded so our defense will be put to the test."

"We have some momentum going for us, and we are hoping to keep it going," Glaze said.

Kick off is 3:30 p.m.

Wayne (4-2) took advantage of two Belleville fumbles, which resulted in excellent field position for the Zebras.

Robertson scored on another off-tackle run, this one for four yards, to give Wayne a 14-0 lead. Robertson was also on the receiving end of a 13-yard pass from senior quarterback Mike Heard.

Heard has been a key ingredient to the success of the Zebra offense. He has already thrown eight touchdown passes in '87, with three games remaining on the schedule.

Neither team managed to reach the end zone in the second half.

"We had our chances to score in the second half, but we kept giving the ball up," said Coach Chuck Howton.

Wayne fumbled two punts in the half, which resulted in good field position for the visitors from Belleville.

However, after each fumble, the defense was there to save the day.

"Our defense played an outstanding game," said Howton. "We were scrambling to the ball and forcing fumbles. The play of our defense was the key to the game."

The Zebras, holding Belleville to only 52-yards of total offense, sacked the opposing quarterback three times, including two from senior Julio Desir. Junior Scott Kopczyk was responsible for a 12-yard sack in the second half.

"I was very happy to get past Belleville," said Howton. "They have some real good athletes over there, and they've had some tough breaks."

The Zebras will go for their fifth win on Friday.

the 50-yard freestyle in 27.84. She also had the winning time for the 100-yard freestyle in 1:01.53.

Merritt touched in with a 2:14.4 in winning the 200-yard freestyle and led the field in the 500 with an impressive 5:55.42.

Belleville also put the best medley relay team in the water with Christy Sikes, Jennifer Calwell, Jennifer Owsley and Traci Gentle who churned a 2:12.05.

BURIED TREASURE

Thank you to Wayne and the surrounding communities. I had the best year since I've been in business. I would like to share some of my good fortune with my friends and neighbors. Buick has been blessed with true treasure . . . the the 1988 Regal. In celebration of the coming of friendship, I have buried $1,000's upon $1,000's in below the surface. I hope you have fun and good fortune finding it. I will pass out maps at the showroom on Wednesday and Thursday. I have also buried the keys to a new 1988 Buick Regal and if you find them you will receive the use of a Buick for the period of time described on the map. If you find some money, I do ask that you spend your found treasure silver dollars in Wayne.

Thank you and may God bless.
